

COVID19 DISINFECTION

Can anyone do it?

QAL Licensed Professional

Janitorial / Labor for Hire

Trained to disinfect areas from contagious animal-borne viral diseases and effective removal of microscopic disease-causing pathogens.	Trained to remove perceivable dirt or dust from surfaces or areas.
Insured specifically to perform disinfections in areas where highly contagious diseases are present.	Insured to operate as a cleaning business. Training and equipment may not meet the criteria to insure employees/workers around infectious diseases.
Can legally purchase and apply EPA approved List N disinfectants proven to target and stop COVID19 spread.	Relies mostly on over-the-counter products with varying degrees of efficacy and adverse effects when applied in excessive quantities.
Trained and experienced with full personal protective equipment (PPE) to protect applicators and prevent cross-contamination as applicators travel from location to location. No need to suddenly purchase large quantities of PPE.	Amateur understanding of self protection and cross-contamination prevention techniques as applicator travels from location to location. May need to make a large purchase of PPE, lessening the supply available to medical personnel.
Experience with performing Coronavirus specific disinfections in homes, commercial spaces, and community spaces.	Experience with cleaning techniques to remove dirt or restore shine in homes, commercial spaces, and community spaces.
Required to have constant training, understanding, and pass skill assessment of proper application techniques that minimize or eliminate environmental impact from disinfectant products.	Not required to understand the environmental impact of over-the-counter products applied in large quantities. Not required to know how to avoid over-applying, soil consumption, runoff, and water supply contamination.
Required to meticulously record and report product usage and locations to customers, and multiple local and federal agencies. High degree of accountability requirement.	Not required to disclose the products used, quantities, and locations. No accountability requirements when it comes to selling and performing disinfection services.
